KEHOE EXPLAINS MARKETING PLAN

Immense Crowd Hear
Speaker At Court
House Last Monday.

Former Congressman Finds Sentiment Is Almost Unanimous And Predicts Success To United Growers.

Hon. James N. Kehoe, of Mayaville, ex-congressman, banker, grower and warehouseman and prominently identified with the tobacco interests of Mayaville, addressed the tobacco growers and farmers of Garrard county last Monday, one of the largest audiences ever seen in the court house, hearing his splendid and convincing talk of one hour and thirty minutes, with unabated interest.

The speaker was introduced by Judge L. L. Walker, the local chairman for Garrard county, saying that he was one of Kentucky's most successful business men in all of his undertakings. Removing his coat, the speaker launched out with his earnestness that captivated the audience that had packed and jammed the room far beyond its capacity.

He said, "The farmers of this burley district know that not one in a hundred of them has a chance to make a dollar this year unless they get it out of their tobacco. In fact, I have been told by hundreds of them that they will not make enough clear to pay their taxes.

"Everything they have this far sold shows a loss and, on account of being in competition with the rest of the world with everything they have to sell, and realizing that general business conditions do not promise any early readjustment, they know that the profitable sale of their tobacco is the only hope of many of them to avoid bankruptcy.

"A farm in this district, no matter how well managed, will prove a liability instead of an asset this and many years to come unless we succeed in perfecting this organization, I fear. The bankers realize that their deposits are sure to decrease unless tobacco brings a good price, and the merchants realize that it will be impossible for them to collect accounts or enlarge their business unless the farmer realizes a profit on their tobacco, so there is nothing strange in the fact that the sentiment of the district is virtually unanimous on this subject. All are equally and vitally concerned."

"Tobacco" he said, "is the only thing that has been able to withstand the depressed business conditions of the world at large. It is not being sold to consumers at a cent less than it was sold during and following the high priced period of the war. Burley tobacco products, the consumption of which is constantly increasing, are selling to consumers today at very profitable prices to the manufacturers. They are able to obtain the same prices for these products as when they paid on an average of 38½ cents a pound for the tobacco, and there is nothing to indicate that such will not continue to be the condition so far as the manufactured products are concerned."

Consumption On Increase.

"The consumption of these products is on the increase, while everybody knows, that the production will be considerably reduced this year. In view of the history of the business it is useless for the growers to expect a fair price for their tobacco unless they merchandise it through one agency. They must quit dumping it and standing helplessly by while it is taken away from them at a price fixed by the buyers, regardless of its value.

"Burley tobacco in the leaf has value, and it must be sold in an orderly way, as other things are sold, according to its value, and that is what the Co-operative Burley Tobacco Marketing Association means to do. If this tobacco is not signed up there is going to be some very rough slogging ahead for the Burley growers and the business interests so intimately connected with the farmers. The business men and citizens generally of the district who are not actively at work for the success of this movement are making a serious mistake. It offers, in my opinion, our financial salvation."

At the conclusion of the address many farmers and growers voluntarily came forward and signed up their crops and in a few minutes about three hundred thousand pounds

CIRCUIT COURT Convened Last Monday And Adjourned For One Week.

The August term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened last Monday morning with Judge Hardin on the bench. Both the grandjury and the petit jury were called and completed. Judge Hardin gave a short and impressive talk to the grand jury, pointing out to them the importance of their sworn duty to investigate all violations of the law, quoting an inscription carved over the door of one of the oldest brick houses in Mercer county, which says: "Look to the law for thine inheritance and not to thy progenitors." He called special attention to the violation of the prohibition laws, which at present was sweeping the country, leaving in its wake murders of the most atrocious character.

On account of many absent witnesses court was adjourned until next Monday morning. The following constitute the two juries:

Grand Jury
R. V. Anderson, W. T. Arnold, Milton Ward, Tom McMillan, Ed Brown, H. B. Cox, Clay Sutton, Walter Kelley, Pierce Huffman, D. H. Montgomery, E. C. Gaines and T. M. Arnold, the latter being appointed foreman.

Sowder, Jess Doty, Parker Jenkins, J. W. Woods, Sr., V. F. Brickey W. H. Roop, J. P. Blanks, Walter Centers, George B. Robinson, Ebb Scott, Powell Dailey, W. L. Prayther and Price Bourne.

Death Of G. B. Gover

There was genuine surprise and sorrow here Tuesday evening when it became known that Mr. H. G. Gover had died at his home out on the Lancaster pike at 5:30, says the Interior Journal. Some months ago he was a very sick man, but he recuperated and was seemingly himself again. He was in town latter part of the week in good health and spirits, and it was hoped and believed that he was good for many more years. He was 65 years old and was a son of the late Bourne Gover, of Pulaski county, and he came to Lincoln county many years ago. He was for many years a stock trader, being junior member of the firm of J. F. and B. G. Gover. Mr. J. F. Gover, who was a brother, died in Danville some six months ago. Mr. Gover was twice married, his first wife being a Miss Singleton, of the East End. His widow, who was Miss Maggie Davis, of Crab Orchard, and two sons, Wallace and Shirley D. Gover, survive the good man. He also leaves three sisters, Mesdames W. A. Rice, of Grand Junction, Colo., Mrs. J. K. VanArstale, of Louisville, and Mrs. R. C. Nunnelley, of this city, and one brother, Mr. James Gover, of this county.

Since he was a youth Mr. Gover had been a devout member of the Christian church and he was active in his work in the Master's vineyard. He was a member of Diadem Lodge, No. 84, Knights of Pythias, and was an interested worker in any and all good causes. He was a clever man, a good citizen, a devoted father and a kind and attentive husband.

The burial took place in Buffalo Spring cemetery Thursday afternoon after services at the grave by Rev. H. J. Hazelton. Knights of Pythias were in charge of the burial.

Rev. W. E. Rix, of Berea, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning. All members are urged to be present.

Beginning Sept. 1st, our terms will be strictly cash to everybody.

MRS. CHARLES P. WEAVER

Loses Life When Train
Hits Auto.

Well Known And Admired Here.

Mrs. Anna Sewell Weaver, clubwoman and wife of Charles P. Weaver, former Mayor of Louisville, was injured fatally at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon when an automobile in which she was riding was struck by a train of the Queen & Crescent Route at Silversville, forty-five miles south of Somerset.

Paul M. Strunk, 35 years old, chauffeur of the automobile, was hurled fifty feet with Mrs. Weaver in the wrecked automobile. Both were placed aboard the train and hurried to Somerset.

Mrs. Weaver, who was badly crushed, died at 4:05 o'clock aboard the train, an hour after she was injured. The chauffeur, whose home is at Silversville, was taken to Somerset hospital where he died Monday.

Mrs. Weaver was Parole Agent of the State Board of Charities and Corrections. At the time of the accident she was investigating wards of the board in the counties of Whitley, McCreary and Pulaski. At Silversville, Mrs. Weaver was investigating the case of an alleged delinquent girl.

For twenty years Mrs. Weaver was an active clubwoman of Louisville. She was formerly president of the Alumni Association of the Louisville Girls' High School and was formerly president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which took her work into a Statewide field. Recently, she was obliged to drop much of this work for welfare activities, mainly in connection with the Board of Charities and Correction. She was a pioneer in suffrage work.

Mrs. Weaver had many friends here among the club women, who deeply deplore her tragic death.

Wins Baby Prize.

Garrard county has again proven that she can and does produce prize winning babies. Geraldine, the beautiful baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morgan captured the prize in the baby show at Brodhead last week in competition with eight others.

City Water O. K.

A sample of the water from the city reservoir was sent off last week by our Public Health Officer and it proved to be free from germ pollution of any character. The city ice is now being made from this water, so patrons need not fear any bad results from this source.

Rogers-Fisher.

On Wednesday afternoon what came as a surprise to their many friends was the marriage of Miss Louella Rogers to Mr. Oscar Fisher. They were accompanied to Danville by Mr. and Mrs. Riley Rogers, where the marriage was solemnized.

Miss Rogers is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers, of West Lancaster, of this county.

Mr. Fisher is one of Garrard's most prosperous farmers.

The happy couple will be at home to their many friends at the home of the groom's parents, of East Lancaster.

Pigs And Poultry.

Plans are being rapidly completed for the Pig and Poultry show on the college campus in Lancaster, Saturday afternoon, September 3rd. Many handsome and valuable prizes will be given to the pig winners, these being published in our last issue.

There will be three prizes given in the poultry classes. The first prize will be a Rhode Island Red cockerel, given by W. A. Ramsey, of Paint Lick.

Second prize will be a setting of eggs from the prize winning pen of Luther Todd's birds of Berea. The third prize will be given by the Central Record, a setting of eggs to be delivered next spring, value $2.50.

The farmers of the county should attend this show Saturday week for some of the best show pigs in the state will be there and some may be offered for sale at prices that will attract the breeder.

BIG UNION REVIVAL

To Start In Danville
Next Sunday Evening.

The Union Revival Meeting for which the churches of Danville have been preparing for many weeks will open on next Sunday evening, Aug. 28th, at 7:30 P. M. Rev. William Edward Biederwolf, D. D., the evangelist, will arrive on Saturday.

Danville is doubtless on the eve of a great religious awakening as they have been fortunate enough to secure the services of the man who shares with Mr. Wm. A. Sunday the distinction of being one of America's two most successful evangelists. Dr. Biederwolf has been in the evangelistic field for twenty-three years and has conducted campaigns in practically all the large cities of the land. He secured his early evangelistic experience with such men as R. Fay Mills, D. L. Moody and J. Wilbur Chapman. He has won for himself a place in the hearts of ministers and church people of this country that few other men have occupied, by his safe and sane methods and yet his fearless denunciation of sin and evil coupled with his great generalship he has been able to move many communities for God. Some one has said of him, "He has the learning of a Torrey," the generalship of a Chapman, the pathos of Gipsy Smith, with the fiery zeal and eloquence of Billy Sunday. In addition to this he is a noted writer. His books will be found in the library of almost every preacher of the gospel. His articles appear almost every month in some of the religious magazines of our country. He has just recently returned from a world tour, speaking at the World Sunday School Convention in Japan and preaching in China, India, Egypt and other countries.

He brings with him to Danville a party of experts in their various lines. Mr. Rollings, his Musical Director, has spent many years in Evangelistic and Bible Conference work, having been associated with several of the leading evangelists of the day and leading the music at many large Bible Conferences and Conventions every year. Mrs. Rollings, who will play piano and have charge of the children's work is an accomplished musician, having secured her training with some of the leading teachers of the country, her work among the children will be one of the outstanding features of the campaign.

Shooting On

The "Shoot."

John Huffman, colored, was shot last Saturday night about eleven o'clock by his son, Louis Huffman. From facts gathered the whole bunch was slightly under the influence of liquor and it is said that the father made an effort to shoot one of his boys when Louis interfered and fired a shot striking the elder Huffman in the hip. The wound is not serious. Ed Anderson and T. J. Huffman were fined $50 each in police court, while Louis Huffman is held under bond to await the action of the present grand jury, charged with malicious shooting.

A Real Treat.

This office had a real treat this week when its good friend, "Jack" Burnside, now of Harlan, paid us a short visit. Jack got his "clawing" in the Record office and has climbed rapidly in the profession, being now the head compositor of the Harlan Enterprise, one of the best and newest papers published in Kentucky. It is chock full of well set advertisements, every week, showing the efficiency of this capable young compositor. Call again Jack, we are always glad to see you.

Miss Mable Mason

In The City.

Miss Mabel Mason, a former High School teacher in the local school was in the City last week-end and was warmly greeted by her many friends. Miss Mason resigned from the high school some few years ago and entered Peabody College, where she graduated with the highest of honors and now ranks as one of the best teachers in the State.

Miss Mason will have charge of the girls department in the Mayfield City Schools at Mayfield, Ky.

Two shares of stock in the Citizens National Bank, of this city was sold publicly last Monday for $222 a share. It was purchased by J. W. Sweeney. (8-18-21)

EIGHT APPLICANTS Examined For Clerk Carrier Positions.

Mr. Frank Powell, assistant postmaster of Danville was in Lancaster last Saturday and held examinations for eight applicants for clerk and carrier positions in the Lancaster postoffice. These offices are created by the fact that Lancaster has just been raised to a second class office, which calls for more clerks and carriers for the free city, delivery which is to be started just as soon as the patrons of the office secure the mail receptacles. Quite a number of these boxes have already been put up and the street signs have been posted and all the houses of the city have been numbered.

Those who took the examination last Saturday were: Curtis Sanford, Ben Wood, Miss Cora Bryant, Miss Minnie Brown, Julian Anderson, Robert Meadows, Earl Bradus and Basson Ford.

Alexander For Market Plan.

Dr. A. J. A. Alexander, one of the largest landowners and tobacco growers in Woodford county, has declared for the contract of the Burley Tobacco Marketing Association. In a letter to a friend here Dr. Alexander declares the reason he has not signed his tobacco is that he has been out of the State. Dr. Alexander says in his letter:

"I learn that there has been some comment on the fact that my tobacco has not been contracted. This is due to my absence from the State. It is my purpose to sign up as soon as I return next month, as I believe the co-operative plan of marketing gives the growers the best chance to get a fair return for their crop."

More than three million pounds of tobacco have been pledged in this county up to today, it was announced at county headquarters of the marketing association.

Garrard Lady Honored

Miss Florence McMurry, granddaughter of John M. Hunt, of Lexington, brother of the late Gorlan Hunt, will assume the duties of Dean of Women at Georgetown College at the beginning of the school year in September. Miss McMurry was secured for the place by President M. B. Adams, on a recent trip to New York.

For the last eight years Miss McMurry has been teaching in Oklahoma. She is returning to Kentucky, her native state, after an absence of 15 years to become a member of the faculty of Georgetown College, which she one attended as a student.

Miss McMurry has just been made president of the Southern Club, at Columbia University, in New York City. This is considered the highest honor that can be shown a Southerner by the students of that university. The club has a membership of more than 3,000.

Miss McMurry was born in Garrard county, Ky. Her mother, before her marriage, was Miss Mary Katherine Hunt, of Lexington, who was married to James McMurry, of Nicholasville. Miss Hunt attended the school at Walnut Hill, that was conducted there at that time by Joseph J. Bullock.

Miss McMurry is related to Judge J. D. Hunt, who died recently, also the prominent Bullock families, of this city, and George R. Hunt, lawyer and political leader.—Lexington Herald.

His hours are from 6 to 8 A. M. and from 4 to 6 P. M.

Lancaster All Stars

Still Winning.

Mr. Joseph took his All Stars to Brodhead last Friday and took the boys of that city into camp by the score of 5 to 1.

Drew on the mound for the mountaineers was knocked out of the box in the first inning and the All Stars succeeded in making their five runs at that time and then Capt. Lackey's team held the boys down to one run throughout the game.

The visitors succeeded in forcing one man around the field in the third inning after which not a single one of their men failed to see third.

Capt. Lackey played a good game and ran his team like an old veteran while "Lefty" Whitnell on first, Woods, on second; Miller, on short and Walker, on third, played excellent ball. The fielders consisting of Jenkins, Cox and Embry supported the great little pitcher, Rohan, to the very last.

Still Another.

Yesterday afternoon we defeated the Berea team to the tune of 15 to 3. The visitors put in three pitchers during the game, but it was just like taking candy from a baby. The game was too one-sided to be interesting, but had the visitors' pitcher had any support at all the score might have been different, but their result would have been the same, for the local boys had on their batting clothes and drove the ball all over the grounds.

Tobacco Notice.

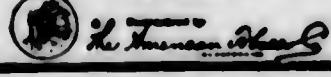

There will be an educational tobacco meeting held at the Court House in Lancaster Saturday, Sept. 3rd, at 1:30 P. M. The speaker will be announced in next week's Record.

It is the duty of every tobacco grower to come and learn of the new plan of getting a living price for his tobacco.

CENSUS

Show Rural Population Moving To Cities.

According to the census of 1920 35.2 per cent. of over two-thirds of the people of the state of Kentucky are either infants or children under 15 years of age; 9.8 per cent are young people 15 to 19 years old; 38.0 per cent. over one-third, are men and women in the prime of life, being from 20 to 44 years old; while 19.9 per cent. being 45 years of age and over, are well along in middle life if they have not reached old age.

The urban population as compared with the rural shows some rather striking differences in age, the percentage 20 to 44 years of age being 41.8 for the urban population as compared with 32.6 for the rural, while the percentage under 15 years of age is 25.6 in the urban population as against 38.6 in the rural. These differences may indicate larger families of children in the country than in the city, but probably indicate also the fact that country children as they grow up have a tendency to flock to the cities thereby increasing the active adult population of the cities at the expense of the rural districts.

A little over one-half of the population, 53.4 per cent, are old enough to vote, being 21 or over; and in this class the men outnumber the women in the ratio of 104 to 100. The males of military of fighting age, 18 to 44, constitute 38.2 per cent of the male population and 19.4 per cent of the total population.

SCHOOL

ATTENDANCE

Show Increase By Last Census.

According to the census of 1920 there are 387,388 children 7 to 13 years of age in the state of Kentucky and of this number 342,974 or 88.5 per cent were reported as attending school. In 1910 the percentage attending school was 81.3, thus indicating an improvement as regards school attendance between 1910 and 1920. Of the children 14 to 15 years of age in 1920, 77.6 per cent were attending school and of those 16 to 17 years of age, 42.5 per cent.

Of the white children 7 to 13 years of age 82.0 were attending school in 1910 and 88.7 per cent in 1920. For the colored children of the same age the percentage in the same interval increased from 74.9 to 85.9.

The percentage of children attending schools was larger in cities than in the country districts, the percentage of children in the urban population 7 to 13 years being 84.4 while in the rural population it was 87.1. "Urban" according to the census definition includes all cities and other incorporated places of 2,500 or more.

Limestone Benefits Soil In Many Ways.

Kentucky farmers who lime their fields this fall will be benefiting the soil in several different ways, according to soils specialists at the College of Agriculture. Lime makes soggy, water-logged and heavy soils granular and lighter permitting more air space for plant roots. Coarse sandy soils are improved by the action of limestone in cementing the soil particles together. Lime also has the power of making sour soils sweet thus increasing the number of desirable soil organisms and making the soil fertile to a greater depth.

Aug. 10-20 Best Dates For Starting Alfalfa.

Kentucky farmers who expect to start an alfalfa crop this fall will obtain best results with the legume by sowing it during the period of August 10 to 20, according to suggestions made by crops specialists. In the Southern part of the State there is usually little risk in sowing as late as September 1st. The crop requires a deep, fertile, well-drained soil and will not make a satisfactory growth on poor land. While most Kentucky soils contain sufficient potassium for alfalfa, many of them outside of the better blue grass ones will require liberal treatments with some carrier of phosphorous. Lime-stone also is an essential fertilizer for alfalfa and must be applied to soils not containing it before these will grow the crop.

A favorable moisture condition in the soil is the first requisite in fall sowing of the legume, according to members of the crops department of the College of Agriculture. This condition will be present if the seed bed has been prepared early so as to store up moisture in the soil. The use of a heavy roller before sowing will bring the moisture closer to the surface and permit shallower covering of the seed. The most favorable condition for sowing is present immediately after a rain. It usually pays to wait as long as is safe to obtain this condition.

The use of a clover-seed drill will give the best distribution of the seed and, unless the bed is extremely loose, the most uniform covering of seed. Because the seed is all covered and to a uniform depth, somewhat less seed is required by this method than where the covering is done with a harrow. In case where it has rained since the ground was last stirred it is necessary to proceed the drill with a light drag harrow in order that the seed may be well covered. The seed should not be covered deeper than the moisture conditions require and in no case should it be covered more than one and one-half inches deep. When the seed is sown broadcast a more even stand is secured by distributing one-half the seed in one direction and the other half in a cross direction.

A smoothing drag harrow with the teeth set straight is the best implement for covering the seed. The rate of sowing generally practiced in Kentucky is from 15 to 20 pounds an acre. Under especially favorable conditions a good stand may be secured by sowing less seed. Circular No. 70 from the Experiment Station, Lexington, gives complete details for the sowing and care of alfalfa.

Orchard Cover Crops Boost Yield Of Trees

Cultivation early in the season followed by the growing of cover crops and mulching with straw from the middle of August to the middle of November are the means which Kentucky farmers have for controlling moisture in their orchards and increasing the production of their trees, according to H. R. Niswonger, extension specialist in orcharding from the College of Agriculture. Heavy production of trees depends on a good growth which in turn depends upon the amount of moisture available for the growing stock.

To help conserve moisture, rye may be sown in the young orchard from the middle of August to the first of November. The crop should be turned under in the spring. Some farmers sow crimson clover or rye and vetch together for orchard cover crops. In old neglected orchards it is a good practice to sow the space between the rows of trees with a cover crop and cover the ground beneath the trees with straw, beginning three or four inches from the trunk and extending beyond the tips of the branches. Good results in conserving moisture are obtained by spreading the straw about three or four inches thick. This material can be applied any time after the crop is harvested but should be under the trees by early spring.

COMMUNITY CLUB IS ORGANIZED IN IOWA

Boys and Girls Carry Out Interesting Program of Work.

Club Has Advantage of Encouraging Young People in Local Problems and Probably Will Be Means of Holding Them on Farms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A team of club boys from Cass County, Iowa, won the pig club demonstration at the state fair last fall. Later the United States Department of Agriculture asked this team to demonstrate daily in its exhibit at the National Swine show at Des Moines. Immediately thereafter the members of this demonstration team, with other enthusiastic boys and girls of their home community, organized the "Progressive Club of Washington Township," with their own officers and program of work.

Regular monthly meetings of the club are held. Part of the time is given over to songs and yells and a game time. The business program includes discussions of subjects related to the farm or home. Reports from members who are engaged in various club activities, telling their experiences and results, also form a part of the program.

The boys decided to enroll in a pig club this year and the girls to take up sewing club work. A committee has been appointed for each group to secure new members. It is planned to put on a demonstration by each section of the club at the state fair next autumn.

The local leader of the club is a rural teacher and the work is done under the direction of the county agent, who has already received requests from other communities nearby asking how they could form similar clubs. Such a club has the advantage of interesting the boys and girls of a community in local problems and will probably be the means of encouraging them to remain in farm work.

CONTROL GRAPEVINE LOOPER

Green Worm Is Sometimes Destructive to Garden and Arbor Grapes—Kill By Spraying.

The grapevine looper, a green worm about an inch and a half long, sometimes destructive to garden and arbor grapes and to Virginia creeper, has been found by United States Department of Agriculture observers doing some damage to vineyards in the Chautauqua Valley along Lake Erie. The worm ordinarily feeds from early in June until the middle of July.

It may be killed by spraying. A solution of 1½ pounds of powdered arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of liquid has been found effective. The poison may be used in water or may be combined with bordeaux mixture used to control fungous disease. A spray application directed primarily against the grapevine rootworm and the grapeberry moth, immediately after the blossoms fall, incidentally controls the grapevine looper.

SMALL FRUITS IN ORCHARDS

Blackberries, Dewberries, Strawberries and Grapes Generally Give Good Returns.

Small fruits should have a place in every orchard. For the home fruit supply, blackberries, dewberries, strawberries, grapes and other small fruits generally give a good account of themselves, when planted on good soil and given the proper attention. A small area of land, set to small fruits, will often bring in more revenue than the rest of the farm, provided, of course, there is a market for the surplus fruits.

BUGS CARRY WILT BACTERIA

Green Beetles Transmit Disease From One Plant to Another by Means of Jaws.

Striped green beetles which infest cucumbers have been found to carry wilt bacteria in their jaws not only from one plant to another, but they often keep these bacteria alive over a winter in their intestinal tract and infect the plants in the spring, according to plant pathologists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Sows Should Gain In Weight Before Time Of Farrowing.

Poultry Housing Methods To Be Feature Of Exhibit.

The ration used by feeders at the College of Agriculture in preparing sows for the fall farrowing season is composed of 50 pounds of corn, 50 pounds of middlings and 10 pounds of tankage and is fed at the rate of about one pound a day for each 100 pounds of live weight of the animals. In addition the sows have access to a supply of sudan grass pasture. In cases where pasture is short the grain allowance should be increased, according to recommendations made by the college animal husbandry staff. During the last six weeks before farrowing the sows should be gaining slowly so as to be in a good healthy condition about farrowing time which comes from the first to the middle of September. Care should be taken to see that the animals are not allowed to gain too rapidly and become fat.

A few days before farrowing, the sows should be removed from the herd and placed in separate pens in order to permit them becoming acquainted with the new quarters, according to E. J. Wilford, a member of the college animal husbandry staff. This also will allow them to become acquainted with the herdsmen and make them more contented during the period of confinement. In order to insure success at farrowing time special care should be given to the nervous sows in an effort to make them more contented. The farrowing quarters should be clean, cool and free from dust.

The uglier, the surer to win praise.

To succeed, and do your duty,
Disregard the lines of beauty,
For the beautiful is wholly out of date;

Every curve must now be rigid,
Melting tones congealed and frigid
If you want to be a moving fashion plate.

Let your cut-off draperies dangle,
Stick your hat on at an angle,
And it doesn't matter how you do your hair;

Slit-toed heels that make you hobble,
With a sort of jerky wobble
That suggests inspiration or despair.

It is true, the fashions vary,
And the Paris makers vary
Often change the whole contrivance overnight;

But you really needn't hurry—
You can be quite free from worry,
So long as you can make yourself a fright.

—Willis Boyd Allen.

The above rhyme is quite appropriate to the times and the mothers as well as the old bachelors are bemoaning the fact that the young girls are spoiling their beauty by following certain styles.

The powder and rouge habit, for instance is one of the chief ways by which this is accomplished. Nobody knows how it happened or maybe the circus clowns introduced it, but the very most carefully reared young girls will add such bright spots of color to their cheeks and lips and powder their noses so white that they very much resemble these funmakers of the show ring. Sometimes one is actually startled at turning a corner and seeing a group of young girls with faces so bedizened.

Some of them have really beautiful complexions naturally and consequently they may ruin the delicate texture with these cosmetics.

Soap and water, exercises, green vegetables and fruit of some sort in the menu each day will give the complexion all the necessary elements of beauty and make the eyes bright, an effect entirely taken away by the "rouge pot" and the "lip stick." —Lexington Herald

Many Farmers Inquire
About Farm
Explosive

Requests are being received daily by the College of Agriculture for information concerning picric acid, the salvaged war explosive available for distribution to farmers at a cost below that of commercial explosives, according to a report from the college which is cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture in distributing the material in Kentucky. The State has been allotted 168,000 pounds on the basis of her 3,222,000 acres of cut-over land.

In order that the material may be distributed in the state it will be necessary to obtain orders for at least one carload, according to an announcement made at the college. Cash with order is required to the extent of 10 cents a pound to cover cost of the acid and the expenses of freight and handling. Any farmer may order 100 pounds or multiples thereof up to 1,000 pounds, orders being received subject to return in case sufficient requests are not received to make up the carload.

The acid is expected to be of special help in furnishing a means for farmers to reclaim and clear land at a cost less than that necessary by use of the commercial dynamite. A six-ounce cartridge of the acid is equivalent to an eight-ounce one of commercial dynamite. Because of the insensitivity of the material it requires a No. 8 cap for detonating whereas dynamites and farm powders are usually detonated with No. 6 caps. Information concerning the material may be obtained by writing the College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky.

250 Bushels An Acre
From Good Spud Seed

That the use of high-grade potato seed is a profitable practice and one which results in larger yields than those obtained from home-grown, bin-selected seed is shown by results which have been obtained by Western Kentucky farmers who cooperated with the extension division of the College of Agriculture in showing the advantages of good seed. Pedigreed Kentucky and northern-grown seed was used in the demonstration in comparison with home-grown bin-selected tubers which represented the type usually left over from sales and sown for seed. The pedigree and northern-grown seed yielded at the rate of 250 bushels an acre while the yield from the home-grown seed was only 30 bushels an acre. Farmers in that community are expected to import more seed in 1922 as a result of the demonstration.

Records Reveal True Worth Of Cull Birds.

Loafer hens reveal their true worth when they are removed from the flock and given an opportunity to show how many eggs they can produce, according to results which have been obtained by T. A. Hoket, a Webster County farmer who cooperated with the extension division of the College of Agriculture in having his flock of 25 White Wyandotte hens culled as a demonstration. The week before the demonstration the 25 hens produced a total of 58 eggs. Seven hens were removed from the flock as culled during the culling demonstration and during the week following laid 5 eggs. The 11 hens that were kept as layers produced a total of 57 eggs during the week following the demonstration.

Boarders In Union Co.
Flock Reduced By Culling

As a result of having his flock of 45 White Wyandotte hens culled to remove the loafers, John C. Fowler, Waverly, Union County is feeding 16 hens less and in one week received only one egg less from those retained than he did from the entire flock the week before. The flock was culled by specialists from the poultry department of the College of Agriculture as a demonstration to show farmers in that vicinity how to distinguish between the heavy-laying hens and the non-laying hens. The week before the demonstration Mr. Fowler received a total of 80 eggs from the 45 hens. The week following the demonstration he received 72 eggs from the 13 hens that were kept as layers while the 16 culled produced only four eggs during the week.

Corrosive Sublimate Stops Spud Seed Rot

By treating their seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate before placing them in cold storage a number of Jefferson County farmers have almost completely controlled the rotting of seed in the bins, according to reports by J. S. Gardner, field agent in vegetable gardening from the College of Agriculture. That the treatment is effective is shown by the fact that a number of growers who did not treat their tubers complained of a large amount of rot when they removed them from storage preparation to planting the second crop. Seed treatment with corrosive sublimate solution to control scab is required in the regulations prepared for the guidance of the Jefferson County Certified Potato Seed Growers' Association which was organized in June under the direction of the College extension division.

Further proof of the value of the seed treatment is shown by the fact that a number of growers who planted treated seed for their first crop find the percentage of scabby potatoes to be from 15 to 40 per cent instead of the customary 50 to 100 per cent. Following the good results obtained by the demonstrators in treating their seed, a number of farmers are expected to adopt the method, Mr. Gardner stated.

Taylor Farmers Purchase Outstanding Jersey Sires.

Members of the Taylor County Cooperative Purebred Sire Association have purchased three outstanding Jersey sires as their first step in improving the dairy cattle in that county according to a report by E. M. Prentiss, dairy field agent of the College of Agriculture who cooperated with County Agent J. L. Miller and the dairymen in perfecting the organization. All of the animals have as their mothers cows who have made records by producing from 450 to 500 pounds of butterfat a year while two of them trace back to the famous Jersey sires, Fairy Glen's Raleigh, through Allen Dale's Raleigh and New Year's Raleigh. The association has 47 dairymen as its members who will receive equal benefits from the animals by mating them to cows on their farms. Use of the sires on the dairy cattle of the county is expected to lead to the establishment of high-producing herds in that section of the State.

Hay From Soybeans Is Good Stock Feed

Soybean hay when cut at the right stage of growth and properly cured make an excellent feed and one much relished by all farm animals. As compared with hay from other leguminous crops soybean hay is superior to any and can be used to reduce the amount of high-priced concentrates which it is necessary to purchase in order to balance the ration fed farm stock.

The beans may be cut for hay and successfully cured at any stage of growth from the first bloom to the time of falling leaves, according to Ralph Kenney, crops field agent from the College of Agriculture. Hay from early-cut beans is small in quantity but it is more digestible than that from beans cut at a later stage. The greatest yield of digestible feed is obtained by cutting the crop when the lower pods are well filled and plump but not ripe. Condition of the leaves at this stage will vary according to what the weather conditions have been during the growing season. In a season of drought many of the bottom leaves will have turned yellow and dropped by the time this stage is reached.

Soybean hay requires from two to five days to cure provided no rain falls after it is cut. Curing should be done by a window or cock since curing in the swath is apt to result in the loss of many of the leaves.

Many farmers are finding it profitable to bale soybean hay, according to Mr. Kenney. Straw from the seed crops is generally baled in seed-producing sections of Kentucky and makes as satisfactory a feed as an average clover hay.

Pushing The Rich Along.

The rich man doesn't get there by his own efforts alone. The poor man keeps pushing him along.

Take the matter of locomotion as an example.

There was a time when the rich man was glad to ride on a donkey or in an ox cart. The poor man walked.

Then some ancient genius devised the carriage for the benefit of the rich. The poor man climbed into the old cart or straddled the donkey.

But the man of nothing was not satisfied. He wanted something. He commenced to climb into the carriage. In time he began to own them.

With the poor man bowing along in his carriage, the rich man bethought himself of a new toy—one beyond the reach of common folks.

The automobile made its appearance, with its honk in front and its smell trailing along behind.

The rich man was again in a class by himself. He whizzed by old Dobbin and scared him out of his wits or drove him into the ditch.

But it didn't last. The poor man was stubborn in his determination to keep the pace. He declined to stay down.

Again time worked its wonders. It saw the poor man climbing into the rich man's car. Today it sees him owning his own car.

But evolution continues its work. The rich man is now only one of the many. He has no class of his own. Therefore he is turning his eye toward the aeroplane as a means of locomotion.

Some day he will abandon his car and travel in the air—again above the common herd.

But even that will not last. There will be no selection for him even in the clouds. The poor man will get there, too.

It is a great race, with the rich man sprinting to keep a few laps ahead and the poor man following with mighty leaps and bounds in his efforts to keep abreast.

That, if you please, is one way in which the poor man is pushing the rich along.

Some day they may both attain wings—in another world.

What Do You Think?

Here is another "feeler" for your consideration.

A story has been sent out from Washington to the effect that an alliance has been suggested between the United States, England and Japan. Apparently the administration would like to know what the American people think of such a proposition.

No doubt such an alliance could readily be formed if our government would indicate its willingness to become a signatory.

But much would depend upon the conditions imposed.

As matters stand now we are constantly facing the possibility of war with Japan. If there is no change in international relations we must inevitably fight them at some future time. The whole world is practically a unit in this belief.

An alliance between the three countries, based upon terms acceptable to each, would undoubtedly prevent such a war. Furthermore, such an alliance would serve to prevent any other country attacking either England, Japan or us.

But would terms acceptable to us prove equally so to Japan? It is doubtful. Our interests are too widely divergent. And yet all things are possible when nations make a sincere effort to live in peace and harmony.

Before expressing a decided opinion for or against such a proposition we would want to know more of the details. The fellow who leaps in the dark never knows where he will light.

You, as a citizen of this community, are as vitally interested in this suggestion as any other person in the United States.

What do you think?

Too Long Sighted.

There is a great tendency on the part of the American people to make a close study of conditions in other parts of the world. This in itself is wise and praiseworthy, were it not for the fact that in so doing we consume much time that should be devoted to the scrutiny of affairs nearer home.

The haphazard manner in which many of our public affairs are conducted is evidence of this fact.

If the public at large would make a sincere and determined effort to widen its scope of knowledge upon national, state and local requirements we would be able to send representatives to Washington who would work in harmony with our desires, and not at random as is now too often the case.

In this way we would have a congress more representative of the true sentiments of the people, a congress more devoted to the welfare of all of the people as a whole and less so to certain interests that work while we sleep.

Long sight is a desirable possession, but only when it does not obscure the vision at closer range.

Our Women

And Theirs.

American women are more fortunate than their cousins of Europe—if it can be called good fortune.

In America there are about the same number of men as there are women, and the latter are admired, courted and sought after. They take their choice.

In Europe it is different. The war has worked great havoc with the male population. There are many millions more women than men, and this condition is becoming worse daily through the emigration of vast numbers of men to other parts of the world.

The surplus women of Europe are facing a dismal and hopeless future. Marriage is their natural state, but only the enactment of laws authorizing polygamy will prevent their dying as spinsters.

The next time you feel dissatisfied with conditions, sister, just contrast your present state with that of the women abroad.

It is a rich field for deep thinking.

BRILLIANT WRITER

Making High Record In Journalism.

The Wonderful Rise Of Jas. Henderson Burdett, Former Lancaster Boy, in His Chosen Profession.

It will be of special interest to many readers of the Daily Messenger to know that Mr. James Henderson Burdett continues to go upward in Newspaper and Periodical work at Chicago, Ill. Young Burdett is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Burdett, his father resided in this county many years, and has a number of relations in this county.

James Burdett, first saw the light of day at Lancaster, Kentucky, his mother, who was Miss Elizabeth Peacock is a native of that town, and is widely connected in that county. When a small boy with his parents, he went to Omaha, Nebraska, where school advantages were first class. Later the family went to Chicago, where he completed his education.

While in his early teens we believe at the age of 18, he accepted a place on the Chicago Chronicle, his ability as a writer was soon recognized and his great paper sent him to Washington to act as its correspondent, from that city. After serving his connection with that paper he was with other papers in Chicago. He is now connected with a Periodical concern in Chicago at a salary of six thousand dollars a year, with splendid prospects to continue to go upward.

Mr. Burdett is a nephew of Mr. Samuel M. Burdett, who was a student at Centre College for a time, boarded with the late lamented Hon. Jno. S. Vanwinkle. After leaving college, he was with the Courier Journal where he demonstrated his ability as a brilliant writer. Still later, he read law, passing a most creditable examination, went to Omaha, where he practiced his profession; also at Denver, Colorado, newspaper work was attractive for him. He went to Chicago where he for several years held places on the big dailies of that city.

James Burdett, like his uncle, Sam, is a gifted writer. He is married, has a wife and four boys. He owns a small farm out from Chicago, going back and forth daily. He is happily married, his boys are making high records in school. It seems but yesterday, he was a small boy, one of the idols of the Lancaster home. Surely time flies. May his star never grow dim. Miss Mary Burdett, who was for years connected with the Census Department at Washington who is now at Parkville is his aunt. His father, Mr. Geo. D. Burdett, is now connected with the Federal Life Insurance Company of Kansas City, a company with a record not exceeded by any company.—Danville Messenger

NO MEAL IS PERFECT WITHOUT GOOD Meat

Relishing a meal puts a fellow in a good humor (the ladies are always that way.)

Without meat there is always a feeling of something lacking. And if you have meat, and it is not of the best, the relish is not there.

The obvious thing, therefore, is to buy the BEST meat—meat that produces a relish—that puts you in a good humor—that keeps you in the pink of condition.

The quality of the meat you eat is more important than the quantity.

It has QUALITY if bought from us.

Every Car On Schedule
Southern's Peach Record.

Every car on time was the record of the Southern Railway System in handling 5,320 cars of Georgia peaches to the markets of the East and West during the season just closed.

Peaches from South Georgia are concentrated at Atlanta from which the Southern handled 4,557 cars to the East; 362 northbound via Chattanooga, Louisville and Cincinnati; 29 to the West via Birmingham; and 8 to Florida via Macon. From North Georgia orchards 384 cars were sent East, making a total eastbound movement of 4,921 cars, handled in 129 special peach trains from Atlanta and eight from Greenville, S. C., to Potomac Yards, Va.

Each of these shipments moved to destination or connecting line on schedule time without delay or accident. This hundred per cent performance, which contributed greatly to the success of the peach growers this year, is attributed by Southern Railway officers to improve facilities, including the double-tracked line from Atlanta to Washington, and to the splendid morale of the operating forces.

An illustration of the spirit which animated the Southern's men in moving peach trains was furnished by Engineer A. B. Chandler, of the Danville Division, who on arriving at Gretna, Va., noted the loss of a piston key from his locomotive. Realizing that delay to his train would break the perfect record, he went to a blacksmith shop and made a key, putting his train to destination on time.

Shipments of peaches from Georgia this year have broken all past records, the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture reporting 10,488 cars.

A report of the Bureau predicts that before many years 15,000 cars of peaches per year will be marketed from Georgia. The report concludes with a reference to the general satisfaction expressed by the trade with the manner in which the 1921 crop was handled by the railroads.

Fayette Men To Conduct Alfalfa Demonstrations

Five Fayette County farmers cooperating with County Agent W. R. Gabbert and the extension division of the College of Agriculture will show the possibilities and advantages of growing alfalfa in that section by means of demonstrations which will be started before August 30. Those who will cooperate in the work are W. Clay Sharpshire, D. R. Kelley, W. E. Roser, W. F. Marshall, and F. D. Drake. Each of the demonstrators will sow from two to six acres of the legume.

Good seed bed preparation, the use of limestone and inoculation are the three things to be given special attention in the demonstrations. From three to four tons of limestone will be used on each acre of alfalfa seeded while Mr. Kelley and Mr. Roser will use a carload. The soil on which the crop is to be seeded will be inoculated with soil from inoculated fields where alfalfa or sweet clover has been grown. From 300 to 500 pounds of soil will be used on each acre. This will be applied broadcast by means of a lime spreader.

Webster Culls Fail To Produce One Egg

Thirteen hens in the flock of 35 Barred Plymouth Rocks owned by Mrs. J. K. Bridges, Kenton County, ran true to form and failed to produce an egg during the week following their removal from the flock as culls, according to a report she has just made on a demonstration conducted on her hens by poultrymen from the College of Agriculture. The week previous to the demonstration the 35 hens produced a total of 41 eggs while the 22 birds which were retained as layers produced a total of 50 eggs during the seven days following the demonstration. As a result of the demonstration a number of farmers in that vicinity are expected to cull their flocks in order to remove the hens that have stopped laying to loaf until spring.

Endorsing

People's Notes.

It is a dangerous thing to endorse a friend's note at a bank, without collateral or other protection, no matter what the circumstances or the intentions involved. When a note is not paid at maturity, the person endorsing it is held responsible. Many instances of suffering and misery could be acted in cases of this kind.

A recent illustration of the folly of practices of this kind is furnished in a civil suit now going on against the estate of the late Theodore Roosevelt. Even if the signature is genuine, concerning which there appears to be some doubt, it was due to Roosevelt's kind heart being superior to his brain. It was the old mistake of obliging a doubtful friend at the expense of one's own family.

There are emergencies, of course, in the lives of all of us, and even the most careful individual may be caught in a tight place to meet a financial obligation. But one should never ask a friend to endorse a note without security and one should never do this for a friend. Some other means of help can be found.

The man who cannot offer some kind of security for a loan, either pledging his own services or a life insurance policy, or property or other collateral, is not worth helping.

When the unexpected happens most people immediately find that they are expecting it.

Farm And Home News
From Over Kentucky

More than 80 Carroll County poultrymen have been taught how to distinguish between the heavy layers and the lighter hens by means of eight demonstrations conducted by County Agent G. C. Raut in cooperation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture. Approximately 135 hens were removed from the 500 birds handled because they showed characteristic indications of having stopped laying.

In an effort to check the trouble caused by stomach worms in sheep, County Agent D. P. Morris recently held five demonstrations on the treatment for them which were attended by 80 Owen County farmers. More than 400 sheep were given treatment in the demonstrations.

The use of lime and acid-phosphate proved profitable for John Johnson, a Madison County farmer, who has just made a report on a demonstration he conducted in cooperation with Co. Agent R. E. Spence and the extension division of the College of Agriculture. He obtained one and one-half tons of lime on an acre off land that had been treated and only one-half to three-fourths of a ton on an acre off land that was not treated.

Carroll County farmers are planning to use more limestone on their farms this fall, according to County Agent G. C. Raut who reports that arrangements have been made to grind 1,600 tons. A goal of 2,000 tons to be used in the county has been set.

Jefferson County farmers cooperating with County Agent F. E. Mersman are planning to sow large acreage of cover crops this fall, according to reports from the county. More than 200 acres have already been signed up to be sown with cover crops.

A number of Boyle County farmers cooperating with County Agent C. L. Taylor are planning to use tankage as a supplement to corn in fattening hogs for the market, according to reports from the county. Three thousand pounds of the material already have been ordered.

Winter Crops Would Save Much Nitrogen

Approximately $20,000,000 worth of nitrogen would be saved in Kentucky in one season by planting cover crops on all land which is in need of them providing one-half as much of this element is saved from leaching by the crops as was saved on New York experiment fields, according to estimates made by R. E. Stephenson, crops field agent from the College of Agriculture who is cooperating with land owners in more than 50 counties of the State in a cover-crop campaign. This amount of nitrogen is enough to produce more than 40,000,000 bushels of corn next year.

In addition to the nitrogen which the cover crops would save they would be of further benefit in that they would prevent soil erosion, add organic matter to the soil, make plant food more available and provide winter pasture. Mr. Stephenson bases his estimates on the fact that Kentucky has about 5,000,000 acres of land under cultivation in regular crops, 3,000,000 acres of which will be in need of a winter cover crop to protect them during the season.

Farmers To Demonstrate Methods Of Hog Feeding.

Farmers in nine Kentucky counties have already been enlisted to conduct swine feeding demonstrations in co-operation with the extension division of the College of Agriculture and county farm agents while a number of others in additional counties will be enrolled during the next month, according to Garry Sardis, swine extension specialist of the college. In order to show the value of a balanced ration and tankage in fattening hogs for the market the demonstrators will feed recommended rations of corn and tankage. In some cases tankage will be replaced by skim milk. The demonstrations will be continued for one year. Co-operators have been enrolled in Lee, Breathitt, Perry, Letcher, Pike, Floyd, Lawrence, Boyd and Washington counties.

Thirty-Two Culls Lay Two Eggs In One Week.

Two eggs in one week from 20 hens removed as culls is the record obtained by S. E. Hall, a Fayette co. farmer who cooperated with county Agent W. H. Galbreath and the extension division of the College of Agriculture in having his flock of 70 mixed hens culled to show farmers in the vicinity how to distinguish between the layer and the heavy layer. The week before the demonstration the 20 hens produced a total of 99 eggs. The week following, the 38 hens which were retained as layers produced 87 eggs. These results are typical of those which may be found on many Kentucky farms during August and September, according to J. H. Martin, in charge of the college poultry work. They show that during these months the average farm flock contains a certain proportion of hens which have stopped laying to loaf until spring. A number of demonstrations are being held by the college in all parts of the state to help visitors recently of Mrs. Broadus, of farmers distinguish between the hens that are producing eggs and those that have stopped.

It is designed as a handbook for boys and girls who are raising baby beef entries in their club project. It may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ray, Mrs. J. D. Ray and Mrs. Fred Snyder and daughter, little Alice R., were in Davierville Thursday visiting.

The most enjoyable affair was the surprise and the celebration of Mrs. J. D. Ray's birthday Wednesday. Her children, their husbands and wives and eighteen grandchildren, all bringing well filled baskets of all kinds of good things to eat. The dinner was spread in the dining room and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Just before leaving for home, pictures were made of the father, mother and eight children, then a picture of the whole crowd. Mrs. Ray's oldest daughter, Miss Monta Ray presented to Mrs. Ray a delicious sponge cake with name and age on it. Delicious cakes and ices were served. All left wishing Mrs. Ray many more happy birthdays like this one.

Many readers of this paper will be made sad to learn of the death of Mr. and Mrs. (S. M.) better known by the familiar name, Milo Prevett, of Hethelheim, Henry County, Ky., who up until a few years ago were residents of near Bradshaw Mill. They have many friends and neighbors there who were grieved to hear of their death. Beside a host of relatives and friends they leave to mourn their loss seven children, Estella, Minnie Lee, Ethel, Everett, Clarence, Eloise and James. Much sympathy is extended these children in their sad hours. Rev. Childress conducted the services at Gilead church Saturday afternoon, interment taking place in the Gilead cemetery.

Put it to any Power Task

While the Fordson Tractor has power in plenty to drag plows and harrows through the heaviest soil, it is light enough, small enough and so easily controlled that it can hardly be put to many tasks about the farm, that will save you time, money and work.

In fact the Fordson will do every power job, both draw-bar and belt, more quickly and at less cost than it can be done with any other form of power. So every month the whole year 'round the always dependable Fordson will prove itself a paying investment, because of its capabilities, its economy and efficiency.

We will gladly explain and demonstrate to you the many Fordson money-making, time-saving features. Call, write or phone.

HASELDEN BROS GARAGEGilberts Creek Defeats
"Country Cousins."

Last Saturday afternoon the Gilberts Creek Nine and Country Cousins crossed bats at Gilberts Creek, which resulted in one of the hottest games and the hardest fought games of the season.

The Country Cousins won in one score in the sixth inning, after which the two teams battled their way on until the last half of the ninth inning, when Gilberts Creek with two men on base and two out drove a safe hit, bringing in two scores, which was the ending of one of the best games of the season.

There are lots of good people still left in this world—but they are accustomed to being left.
